A FIRM WITH influence

Our attorneys are actively involved in legislative committees, bar and trade associations, and similar organizations where they play key roles in formulating proposed laws and help shape how existing laws are defined, implemented and enforced. In fact, many former Lane Powell attorneys serve on the bench as judges in state and federal courts.

Lane Powell attorneys are also proactive on behalf of our clients. When necessary, we seek amendments to statutes to remedy problems or unintended consequences, and, of course, litigate cases of first impression — those where no legal precedents exist — to define how courts will apply the law.

The reach and distinction of Lane Powell's influence makes the Firm attractive to high-caliber attorneys, from top law school graduates to accomplished lawyers with records of proven achievement.
