Barb Duffy will serve as a panelist in a roundtable discussion about hot topics in seniors housing at the American Seniors Housing Association (ASHA) 2017 Annual Meeting in Palm Springs, California on Tuesday, January 31.

The annual meeting is a gathering of the nation’s top seniors housing professionals. The attendees share business insights, debate issues and listen to nationally recognized speakers discuss thought-provoking topics of common interest.

ASHA’s meetings, which are complimentary and open only to members of the Association, are stimulating and thought-provoking gatherings of the nation’s top seniors housing professionals. ASHA meeting participants candidly share information and business insights, debate issues of common interest, and hear nationally recognized speakers.
