Project Risk — From a Construction Law Perspective

American Public Works Association | Redmond, Washington

Stan Beck and Andrew Gabel will provide a Technical Presentation on “Project Risk — From a Construction Law Perspective” for the American Public Works Association (APWA) Construction Management Committee on Thursday, September 7. Beck and Gabel will cover various topics on risks to project owners as they progress their projects from final design and into construction with focus on: new legislation coming or being proposed that could affect project risks; current trends in case law that could affect an owner’s approach to construction management; and best practices for positioning projects for success and how to avoid claims. The meeting will take place from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Redmond City Hall.
