Hartley Joins Lane Powell as Director of Human Resources

Firm Announcement

Lane Powell is pleased to welcome Heather Hartley as the firm's Director of Human Resources. Hartley will oversee all of Lane Powell's human resource functions, including development and implementation of policies and procedures; staff recruiting, hiring, performance evaluations and retention; salary and benefits administration; training and development; legal compliance; and employee relations.

Joe Woods, Chief Operating Officer of Lane Powell, commented: "Heather is an experienced, forward-thinking HR leader who has held a number of related roles in large organizations. We are incredibly excited about the energy Heather will bring to the human resources function at Lane Powell and welcome her assistance in our ongoing efforts to evolve and thrive as an organization."

Prior to joining Lane Powell, Hartley spent seven years with the City of Seattle, most recently as Senior HR Business Partner, where she managed human resources for four executive departments including the Mayor's Office.

Hartley received her M.A. in History from Western Washington University and her B.A. in History and German from the University of Alaska at Anchorage. She is a Society for Human Resources Management Senior Certified Professional and has completed basic mediation training with King County Dispute Resolution Center.
