Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Judgments in China

Washington State Bar Association International Practice Section CLE | Seattle

Lane Powell will hosted the Washington State Bar Association's International Practice Section (IPS) for a CLE titled "Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Judgments in China" on Thursday, January 31, from noon to 1 p.m. The CLE introduced China's relevant laws and regulations governing the recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments, and discussed recent cases where foreign judgments were recognized and enforced in China. The presentation will also compared the rules in China with those in the U.S.

The IPS was founded in 1984, and has a broad focus that includes not only the study of current developments in the field of international law but also immigration law, international transactional work, and international litigation or arbitration. Qingqing Miao currently serves on the Executive Committee of the IPS.
